

Fly-grazing hot spots in England and Wales

This is an indicative map which broadly illustrates fly-grazing hot spots in England and Wales in summer 2014. This map is by no means comprehensive; fly-grazing is pervasive across the country at various levels and this map shows only where members of the fly-grazing coalition are aware of welfare concerns related to fly-grazing at the time of drafting. The mobile nature of fly-grazing also means that horses are regularly moved to different sites, creating a fluid situation. Charity action and new legislation are helping to address the issue in Wales, but in England the problem appears to be growing.
